YOUNG PROFESSIONALS IN FOREIGN POLICY

Young Professionals in Foreign Policy (YFPF)

For 15 years, YFPF has been the go-to organization for the professional development of emerging leaders in the foreign policy field and has provided experiences for members to develop new skills, build stronger networks, and enhance their career trajectory. YFPF stands ready to deliver on its mission to build the leaders the world needs when our nation and the world needs balanced and thoughtful leadership more than ever. YFPF operates through eight hubs across six countries and maintains an online and in-person community of more than 32,000 emerging leaders in foreign policy. In 2019 alone, YFPF:

- Trained 17 fellows who then published more than 80 articles in outlets like The Diplomat, Common Dreams, and Wired.
- Convened more than 200 events worldwide.
- Published 112 articles in YFPF's online journal, Charged Affairs.
- Circulated hundreds of newsletters.
- Reinvigorated 19 discussion groups in DC.
- Established a peer-to-peer Advisors Program in our Brussels chapter.
- Sponsored 13 YFPF delegates to participate in the UAE Study Tour.
- Sponsored 6 Y7 and Y20 delegates in Paris and Tokyo.

YFPF provides members with the following:

Engaging Events - Access to engage with established foreign policy leaders in intimate settings. These events build cohesion within YFPF's diverse and interconnected community of emerging and established foreign policy leaders.

Discussion Groups – Access to more than twenty peer-led communities that promote thoughtful engagement through monthly meetings. Members present original research for internal critique, host guest speakers and analyze current events related to a specific theme or region.

Charged Affairs Journal – Access to YFPF's online foreign policy journal designed for members to develop their voice through writing. Backed by an editorial system designed to help members sharpen their writing skills, YFPF members publish dozens of policy-focused articles each month through Charged Affairs.

Youth Summits – Opportunity to apply for YFPF's Youth Summits. Each year, YFPF selects

American youth delegates to participate in the Y7 and Y20 Summits. These Summits are the official youth summits affiliated with the G7 and G20 Summits.

Fellows Program – Opportunity to apply for YFPF’s intensive eight-month Fellows Program. The Fellows Program is designed to develop the writing skills and build the public profiles of future leaders in foreign policy.

Tools of the Trade Workshops – Access to skill-building workshops and continuing education programs. From resume writing to public speaking, these workshops provide practical skills to advance members’ careers.

Community – Access to YFPF’s community of more than 20,000 emerging and established foreign policy professionals. In addition to official YFPF programs, YFPF members come together for social events, community service events and YFPF’s annual Affairs of State gala.

Employment Opportunities – Access to YFPF’s Job Board and opportunities to become a freelance foreign policy consultant through our partnership with GlobalWonks. GlobalWonks provides a marketplace for experts such as yourself to reach new clients, a community for professional development, and a solution for managing administrative hassles like drafting contracts and chasing payment. GlobalWonks has created a pathway in their algorithm and search engine to allow maximum visibility and engagement opportunities for YFPF members. Please contact Will Jessup (will.jessup@globalwonks.com) with any questions about creating your GlobalWonks profile.

Discounted Insurance Packages - Access to international coverage that includes health, life, income protection, world auto, and world personal property insurance for members living and working abroad. The also provided US insurance solutions such as auto, property/renters insurance, homeowners and dwelling insurance. Learn more and talk to YFPF’s designated customer support team, here!
