

Firm Overview

Resilient Communities Group, LLC (RCG) is a community-building consulting firm operating at the intersection of policy, practice, and communications. Founded in 2021 with offices in Washington, DC and Downstate Illinois, the principals of RCG and its advisors bring together a seasoned team of thought leaders, innovators, and trusted conveners. Our team has a proven track record of addressing complex natural resource challenges, while revealing opportunities to build the livability and resiliency of the broader community.

The RCG team possesses a diversified record of bringing together stakeholders and facilitating effective collaboration, resulting in unique and tangible gains for a wide variety of clients. Our experience has involved extensive work with federal and state agencies, NGOs, trade organizations, academic and research institutions, as well as the private sector, including many Fortune 100 companies. The RCG team has a history of delivering capacity on both small grant-driven projects and large corporate and government-funded initiatives.

We have expertise in building the capacity and consensus to activate revitalization of urban and rural communities, specializing in strategic design, stakeholder engagement, regulatory intervention, the water-energy-land use nexus, and strategic communications in problem-solving to bolster shared undertakings and collective impact.

The firm concentrates its focus on food-water-energy security, examined through the lens of economy, ecology, and community, while revealing the practical business case for system and community resiliency, networked governance and collective impact, improved regional/local planning and problem solving, and emerging opportunities for impact investment.

Fellowship Overview

RCG is seeking a part-time fellow remotely located with an anticipated level of effort of 15-20 hours/week. The fellow will commence February 15, 2022 and run through May 31, 2022. If of interest to both parties, there will be an option to extend the fellowship on a part-time basis through the Summer 2022. A monthly stipend will be paid.

Responsibilities

- Research and development of white papers, case studies, and other informational documents on a range of community-building, environmental, and public health topics.
- Organization of executive-level and community stakeholder engagement forums and convening public-private leadership through webinars, roundtables, etc.
- Develop tools, slide decks, and templates for executive briefings policymakers, program managers, stakeholder groups, and other targeted audiences.
- Creation of routine marketing and communication materials (e.g., press releases, blogs, newsletter, flyers).

- Assist project managers with development of project plans, budgets, deliverable and milestone tracking.

Qualifications

- Strong research and technical writing skills.
- Prior experience with communications, public relations, data analytics, and digital media.
- Strong attention to detail, with the ability to multi-task.
- Candidates must have a track record of strong academic achievement.
- Graduate students in related fields (public affairs, marketing, communications, public policy) are preferred, with a demonstrated interest in the urban and regional planning field. Applications from accomplished junior and senior undergraduates are welcomed.

To Apply

To apply, email your resume and cover letter to info@resilientconsult.com by no later than February 11, 2022.